GATHERING

“Perhaps we yearn for an impossible dream, to belong here and now, to each other,
to be the roots and the soil,
to grow from place and tribe,
to go out and perform as a troupe performs and return home to be greeted and fed and then to sleep...

My home is now, during my turn on the planet, passing through with this tribe - this troupe of wonderful creative, vital people alive at a time of astonishing loss.”

INVITATION

Dear Friends,

You are warmly invited to join Juicy Edge - a powerful gathering of inspiring people who work for a peaceful, joyful and sustain-able world. We come together in the spirit of Chris Seeley, to explore the juicy edges of our work, to support each other's growth with clarity and creativity and to nourish our love and connection by being together in a place of great natural beauty.

The enormous challenges of our time can sometimes take us to the very limits of our capacity to respond meaningfully. They demand renewal and development of our personal and professional practice to enable us to thrive whilst contributing our unique gifts to the world.

Juicy Edge offers a convivial space for engaged and artful inquiry into the kind of questions that matter for those who want their lives to make a difference: What are the roots of ignorance and suffering? How should we be? What can we do? What can we offer? What must we learn? What do we need to set aside? Each of us carries our own emboldening questions which shape and reshape our lives.

INVITATION

We will join together as a whole community, in smaller groups, and with time to be alone. Some activities will be planned and facilitated (such as Dialogue and Open Space) and others will be self-initiated and self-organised. Support will be given by experienced facilitators for those who wish to “solo” in nature for a while.

You are also invited to bring your own particular interests and emerging practices to share with others either informally or in workshop sessions. This is a perfect opportunity to explore new possibilities for your work in a spirit of boldness and generosity – to make the path by walking it.

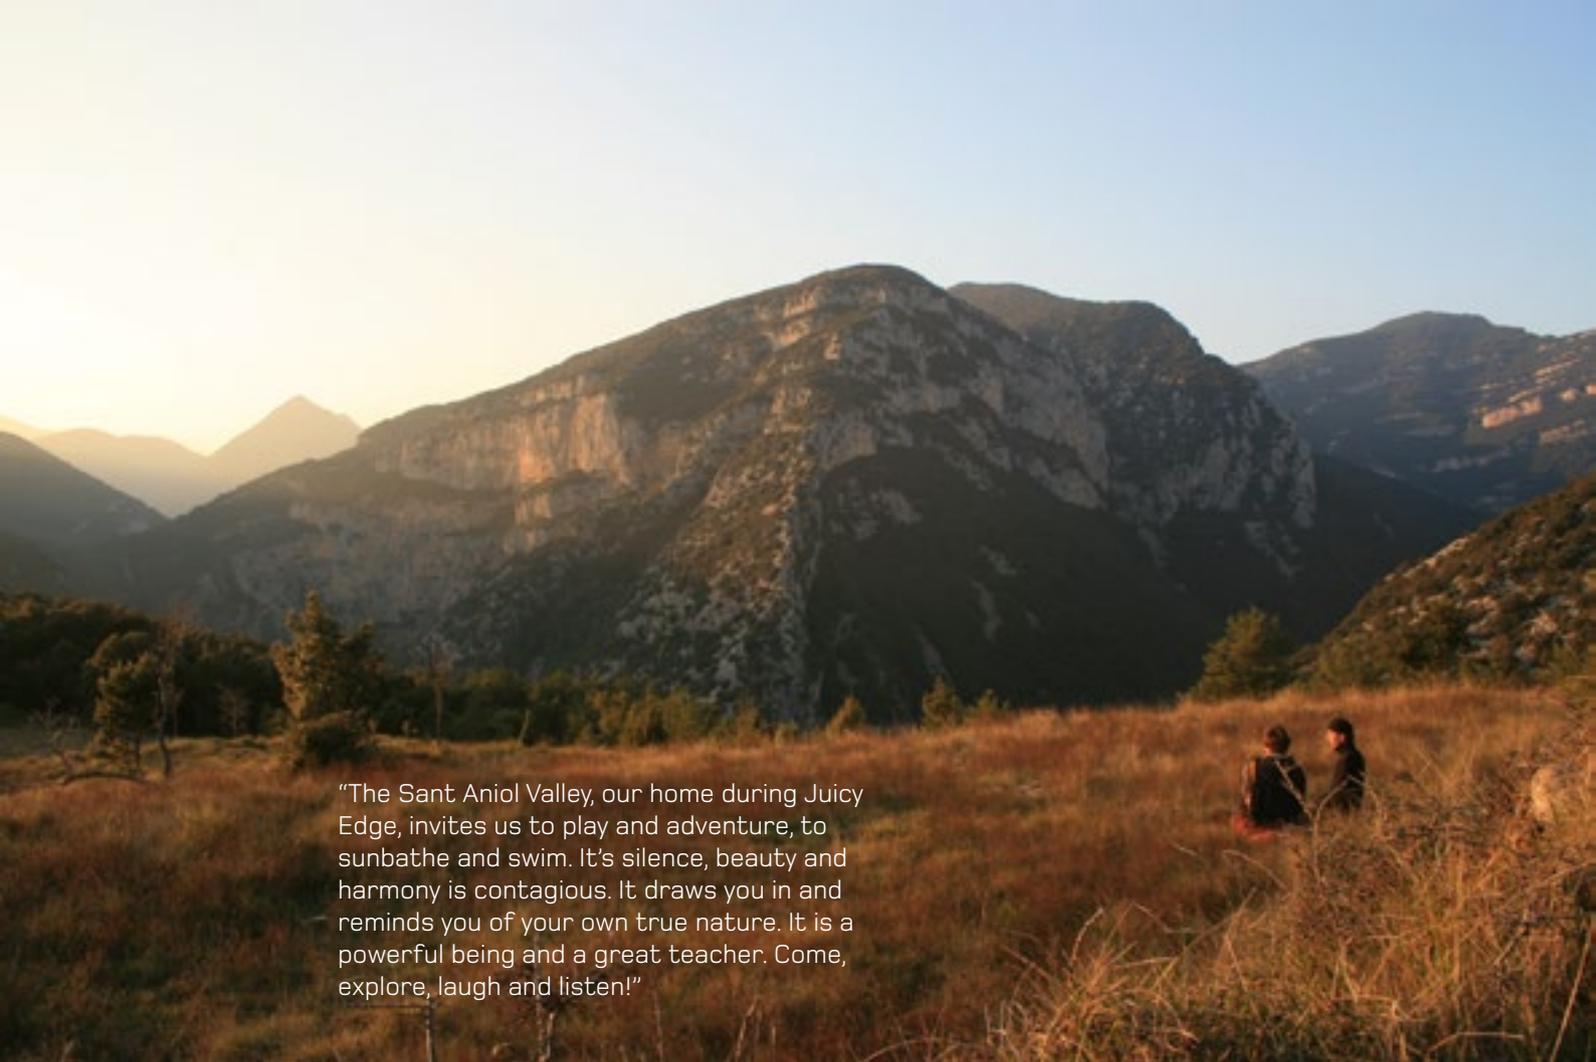

Juicy Edge will take place from Saturday 1st till Wednesday 5th of July 2017. We will be based in the heart of the Alta Garrotxa Nature Park at the Sant Aniol valley education center, north of Girona, Catalonia, Spain.

On the following pages we give a brief overview and address some essential logistical information.

We hope to see you here!

“The Sant Aniol Valley, our home during Juicy Edge, invites us to play and adventure, to sunbathe and swim. It’s silence, beauty and harmony is contagious. It draws you in and reminds you of your own true nature. It is a powerful being and a great teacher. Come, explore, laugh and listen!”

OVERVIEW

To help us arrive in the place and with each other we will open with a creative session on Saturday at 3 pm. This is followed by welcome drinks and a tasty meal.

Days two, three and four will allow for a grounded purposeful process with real depth and quality. During approximately five hours per day we may join facilitated sessions exploring and weaving together the gatherings main threads of art, sustainability, nature and spirit. Plenty of unstructured space will allow magic to emerge spontaneously everywhere.

Of course the idea is that we all contribute in different ways: You may bring an instrument to make music, help with preparing meals, or offer to facilitate a session. A little ceremony will close the event after brunch on Wednesday by 1 pm.

“When you are in touch with the dimension of being within yourself – and being in touch with it is your natural state, not some miraculous achievement – all your actions and relationships will reflect the oneness with all life that you sense deep within. This is love.”

Eckhart Tolle
